SANSKRITA - DIALOGUE 3

Welcoming new season

Greetings!!!!

Showers of rain are expected any time now. We all are waiting. There is an integral connection between the rainy season and the new academic sessions. The anxiety and anxiousness experienced by each one of us during our school days is so fresh deep in our schema. The smell of the new uniform and the mud stains on it on the very first day, yet we loved the rain, the umbrellas and the raincoats, new school bags, books and notebooks.

A lot of students with similar feelings will be with us soon. Students are the soul of our institutions. Admission strategies, modalities, planning, preparing for facilitating teaching, canteens, classrooms, hostels, brochures, and so on; things will soon fall in place.

What about us? Are we geared up to welcome them?

We are preparing ourselves for the implementation of the national education policy. The spirit of the policy revolves around the holistic development of the student and grooming her into a pleasant and responsible personality. At SNDT WU each one of us in our own unique way would be focusing on making our approach student centric. We need to prepare ourselves for the most sensitive job assigned to us. That of 'teaching'... no!! actually it is that of 'learning'

We are co-learners with our students. Learning needs a kind of humble attitude deep within. Let us have very happy, pleasant, fulfilling learning seasons in the coming academic session of 22-23.

This Month....

This is the end of the summer vacation and time for new admissions. Students get excited about the new class, new course, new teachers etc. and teachers get excited about the new batch of the students. Usually this time of the year is full of enthusiasm in the campus but things got mixed up a bit this year. Some are busy in exam, some are having vacation and some are ready for new admission. Educational Institutions are trying to bring the academic terms in routine which got disturbed in last 2 year due to pandemic. This also will pass and this coping up season also will get over because bad days build better days.

Pandemic has given us the option of doing teaching-learning and meetings online. Sometimes it is very convenient and cost effective but usually it is pleasure meeting face to face. A new mode of interaction has emerged during Pandemic that is hybrid mode. This has made many things easy which appeared impossible earlier.

Life has its struggles but new academic year always starts with new hopes. This year S.N.D.T Women's University, like all other academic institutions is aspiring to implement National Education Policy 2020. All are looking forward to overcome the challenges ahead. The whole environment is full of hope after facing the challenges of survival during the pandemic. This clearly indicates that hope is much stronger than fears.

Editorial

We are coming up with the fourth issue of the E-Newsletter. The new academic year and the new semester will begin in the month of June filled with new hopes, energy and freshness.

We have entered the third decade of the twenty-first century. India as a nation is striving to become a super power in the new millennium. In order to achieve that goal, we need to utilize our human assets in a most effective way. Education is a one of the keystone towards that journey. With this vision, Shreemati Nathibai Damodar Thackersey Women's University is trying to achieve excellence by creating globally competent empowered women social scientists and technologists through world class education. The university is striving hard to create an environment for the holistic personal and professional development of the students which in turn will help to build a society based on justice, equality and sisterhood. Our university through continuous experiments in pedagogy, curriculum, teaching, research and extra-curricular activities is trying to fulfil the societal needs as well as the goal of national development.

The university works in four campuses - Churchgate, Juhu, Pune and Shreevardhan. Besides, the university has many affiliated colleges located in the six states -- Maharashtra, Goa, Gujarat, Assam, Madhyapradesh, Uttarpradesh and Bihar.

We believe that every beginner possesses a great potential to be an expert in his or her chosen field. The aspiring students have ample options in terms of vocations and courses in the university. We offer degree and diploma courses in various streams/disciplines in humanities, natural sciences, management and commerce. Apart from the postgraduate courses in traditional disciplines such as Commerce, Economics, Geography, History, Political Science, Psychology and Sociology, we have courses in Music, Drawing and Painting, Education and Social work at the Churchgate and Pune campus. We have language departments offering post graduate degree and diploma programmes in English, Hindi, Gujarati, Marathi and Sanskrit at Churchgate and Pune campus. Besides, we have courses in Nursing and Life long learning at the Churchgate campus.

At the beautiful, green campus located in Juhu, we have courses in different disciplines such as communication, Education Technology, Human Development, Food Science and Nutrition, Family Resource Management, Textile Science, Computer Science, Education Management, Pharmacy and Analytical Chemistry. The P.V. Polytechnic at Juhu campus offers job-oriented diploma and degree courses in Apparel Manufacture and Design, Food Technology, Interior Design, Ophthalmic Technology, Optometry, Fashion Design and Travel and Tourism to mention a few. Sir Vithaldas Thackersey College of Home Science (Autonomous) located at the Juhu campus offers degree and diploma courses in Food, Nutrition and Dietetics, Fashion Design and many more professional courses. The Research Centre for Women's Studies (Juhu), which is the pioneering women's studies centre in India has a post graduate degree course in Women's Studies. Jankidevi Bajaj Institute of Management Studies (JDBIMS), Usha Mittal Institute Of Technology (UMIT) and Janaki Devi Bajaj Institute Of Management Studies And Research (JDBIMSR) have very good courses on Management and Engineering and Compute Science etc.

We keep enhancing the curriculum as per the requirements of the changing world around us. The university provides faculty having expertise in their fields and disciplines. We constantly try to enhance the environment in the campus to make it student-friendly, secured, homely wherein students can study with comfort and ease. We have Centre for Distance Education for those girls who can not pursue their education as a regular student. The working women who wish to take further education after a long break can also avail the facility by joining as a distance education student. The university has a nice, well equipped library on all the four campuses.

Realizing the need of the 21st century, the university has introduced internship at the PG programmes in all disciplines. This gives the students exposure to the industry, government organizations, NGOs and the world outside the university. This has made the university the first choice of the students of the new millennium. Maharashtra has a glorious legacy of social reformers and educationalists. Their philosophy and values will keep working as the guiding spirit for the university to excel in all its student-centric activities.

History of Economics Department of SNDTWU, Mumbai

The post graduate (PG) department of Economics was established at SNDT Women's University (SNDTWU) in 1972. Prof. Ramesh Panse who was then Head of the Department initiated a 'Rural development Cell' in the department and the department was actively engaged in the activities related to rural development. During his tenure, in 1983, Marathi Arthashastra Parishad's Annual Conference was held at Pune campus of the University. After that conference the 'Marathi Arthashastra Parishad Endowment Annual Lecture' is organised by the Department of Economics. Mumbai, being a financial capital of India, high level of interest in economics as an academic discipline resulted in massive response of students for Master of Arts course. Subsequently, with joining of luminaries such as, Prof. S.K. G. Sundaram, Prof. Avadhoot Nadkarni the Ph. D. programme in Economics attracted scholars from various universities. During Prof. Sundaram's tenure the department had established a Computer Centre. Prof. Avadhoot Nadkarni offered the paper – 'Computer Applications in Quantitative Methods'. M.Phil. in Economics was offered for over a decade and was discontinued in 1993. Both Prof. S.K. G. Sundaram and Prof. Vibhuti Patel had additional charge of Director of Department of Post Graduate Studies and Research (a cluster of Post Graduate Departments of Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences and Commerce). From 2004-05, Gujarati as a Medium of instruction was discontinued but students have an option of writing answers/project reports in English, Marathi, Hindi and Gujarati.

I joined the department as Prof. and head in 2004. I was familiar with the ecosystem of multi-lingual teaching as I had taught as a visiting faculty for the economics department from 1977 to 2001. I was also Director PGSR along with HOD of Economics from 2006 to 2012. Teaching Faculty of economics department of SNDTWU has been known from the very beginning to be guided by team spirit, congeniality, social orientation and kindness towards students from multicultural backgrounds. During my tenure, five of us, Prof. Veena Devasthali (who had additional Charge of Centre for Gandhian Studies), Prof. K.S. Ingole (who had additional charge of Director, Babasaheb Ambedkar Chair), Prof. Ruby Ojha (who is currently Pro-Vice Chancellor of SNDTWU), Dr. Sanjaykumar P. Phad. (who is currently Head of PG Dept. of Economics) and myself worked harmoniously and took responsibilities not only of the department but also of all major and mega events of the SNDTWU. Our department played supportive role towards Undergraduate Departments of Economics located in constituent as well as the affiliated colleges. This spirit of cooperation and congeniality percolated down among our MA students and Ph.D. scholars. In all activities of the Department - seminars, workshops, conferences, student-oriented activities, research, training and outreach activities, both UG and PG department teachers, students, scholars and staff worked with sincerity of purpose and commitment of work ethics. They have a faith in the university's motto that the enlightened women are the backbone of civilization, responsible citizenry and empowerment of human kind. Hence, they are oriented towards holistic education along with technical proficiency in economics.
